

DEMANDS TO CURB SUPREME COURT'S POWERS RENEWED

Latest Decision Overthrows The Women's Minimum Wage Law.

THREE SENATORS DISCUSS CHANGES

Would Require Larger Vote To Declare Laws Unconstitutional.

Washington, April 10.—Progressive circles in Washington today seethed with new demands for a constitutional amendment to curtail the power of the United States supreme court to declare laws unconstitutional by the barest of majorities.

The latest decision, overruling the women's minimum wage law, follows closely on the heels of another famous decision declaring the child labor law unconstitutional.

In the child labor case it was a 5 to 4 decision; in the minimum wage case it was 5 to 3 and only the fact that Justice Louis D. Brandeis refrained from voting prevented it being another 5-4 decision.

Both these decisions have aroused congressional fire to a point where legislation to limit the court's powers is virtually certain of introduction in the next congress.

Sen. Wm. E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, said today that as soon as the next congress convenes he will introduce a bill compelling a 7 to 2 vote by the court before it can declare an act of congress unconstitutional.

Two Other Plans

Another plan, sponsored by Sen. La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, would give congress the power to reenact the laws by a two-thirds vote over an adverse decision by the supreme court. This plan, necessitating a constitutional amendment, would give congress the same power to override the supreme court as it now possesses in setting aside a presidential veto.

A third plan, proposed by Sen. Fess, Republican of Ohio, would require a two-thirds vote of the nine supreme court justices to make effective any decision holding an act of congress unconstitutional. All three plans draw ardent supporters today as a result of the minimum wage decree.

The movement was given additional impetus by farm bloc senators who looked upon the minimum wage decree as closing the door to price fixing legislation. A half dozen bills to stabilize wheat crop conditions by fixing minimum prices were pending when congress adjourned in March and will be re-introduced in the next session.

LEETONIA MOURNS LOSS OF TWO MEN

Hundreds Attend Services For Dr. Conrad And T. S. Arnold.

Hundreds of friends paid their respects to the memories of two prominent Leetonia residents, Thomas S. Arnold, editor and publisher of the Leetonia Reporter, and Dr. S. A. Conrad—who died last week.

Mr. Arnold, prominent in the life of the village for many years, died at the age of 70 and Dr. Conrad, also a highly respected resident, was killed Friday when a train struck his auto.

Physicians from all parts of the county and Knights Templar from Salem attended the service for Dr. Conrad Monday afternoon. The funeral was in charge of Salem commandery, K. T., and Rev. Kiernan of the Leetonia Presbyterian church.

The funeral of Mr. Arnold, held at 3 p. m. Tuesday, was largely attended. Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Salem attending in a body. The service was in charge of Rev. Mr. Stewart of the Leetonia Methodist church.

Two Seniors Speak At School Assembly

An appeal for more snapshots for the May issue of The Quaker was made at assembly Tuesday morning at the Salem High school.

Speeches were given by two members of the Senior class. Arlene Miller spoke on "Keep Smiling." She told her idea of what a real smile is and her talk showed that she knows the value of a smile.

"Theodore Roosevelt" was the theme of a talk by Raymond Lowry. He pointed out how Roosevelt and his work could help the students set the standard of the school higher.

Kidnaped Physician Is Beaten And Cut

Miami, Fla., April 10.—Sheriff L. A. Allen today instituted an investigation of the brutal treatment inflicted upon Dr. P. Eugene Elmer, who was kidnaped Sunday night by three men, taken to a lonely spot in Dade county, beaten and made the victim of what officers termed "an inhuman operation."

Other knife wounds were also inflicted on the physician, it was learned today.

Geo. L. Fordyce Tells Book Club About Bird Life

Noted Authority Presents Pictures, Explains Characteristics.

George L. Fordyce, Youngstown merchant and an authority on bird life, gave a most instructive and entertaining talk on "Bird Life," illustrating it with beautifully colored stereopticon views, Monday afternoon at a meeting of the Book club of the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Many of the pictures shown were taken by Mr. Fordyce and he told how he had taken them.

The beauty of the plumage of these creatures was revealed in a wonderful way by the pictures, which made the birds very realistic.

Value of the birds to orchards and meadows, characteristics of the species which are found in the woodlands in this section formed the nucleus of Mr. Fordyce's talk.

Different views of the first home in America of John James Audubon and the lovely scenery which surrounds it were shown by the speaker at the beginning of his discourse. Mr. Audubon was well known to every student of bird life. His home is located in the district of Valley Forge and the pictures were taken by Mr. Fordyce while on a visit there.

A series of pictures of a robin which built its nest at his home, and a similar series of hawks rearing their young were shown. In the hawk series, which were taken in the woodlands, some of the pictures showed Mr. Fordyce climbing a tree more than 70 feet high to see in a nest.

Another interesting feature was a series of pictures taken at a bird feeding station, which is located on a farm near Warren.

Pictures of orioles, cardinals, humming birds, bald eagles, owls, crows and other birds were very pleasing. In some of these the difference in the coloring between the male and female bird was portrayed. While the coloring in these were different Mr. Fordyce has learned to know them by their movements.

This talk was much appreciated by the members and their guests, who filled the assembly room at the chamber.

Pity The Hello Girls Who Handle 12,553 Calls Here Every Day

How many telephone calls are made in Salem daily?

At what hour are the most calls made?

When are the least calls made?

No, this is not an Edison question-maire, or a "memory test." It's a simple study of the greatest public utility of the day—the utility which was considered a "useless toy" 40 years ago.

Normally, there is an average of 12,553 local calls handled by the Ohio Bell company here every day. H. M. Hoffman, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell company announced today. This shows that each hour of the 24

With Present Supply Inadequate, Salem Must Eventually Turn To Surface Supply, Says State Engineer; Big Problem Is Financial, He Declares.

Salem's water problem is a financial one more so than an engineering problem or one of public health. The present water supply is inadequate.

The waterworks system is not big enough for Salem. Both the water supply and the necessary equipment are lacking.

It must be given a low rating from the standpoint of supply but it must be given a high rating from the standpoint of quality.

These were the salient facts in a discussion of Salem's water problem, by W. H. Dittoe, chief engineer of the state department of health, Monday night at a meeting of representative citizens at the Elks home.

The meeting was arranged by the Salem Kiwanis club and drew an attendance of more than 75. Organizations represented included the Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce, City council and the Kiwanis club.

A dinner at 6:30 preceded the address by Mr. Dittoe, Dr. T. T. Church, city health commissioner, presided as chairman.

Source of Supply

"The most glaring fault in the water situation here is the source of supply. The supply is limited and inadequate. More water must be found to care for the city's needs," declared Mr. Dittoe in his discussion of the water problem facing Salem.

Mr. Dittoe, who is thoroughly conversant with the water question here, through his work in the city during the typhoid fever epidemic, voiced his opinion that the city should look towards a surface supply rather than that of well fields, from both an economic and safety standpoint.

"From the standpoint of safety and adequacy, surface water would fill the bill but the cost would be greater

Teacher To Fight Charge Of Aiding Delinquent Pupils

Lisbon, April 10.—D. E. Speidel, who has been teaching at the Dungan school and was charged with contributing to the delinquency of his pupils, was brought into juvenile court this morning where he pleaded not guilty to the charge and was released on $500 bond to appear for trial the date to be set later by Prosecutor Hanley.

He pleaded not guilty also to a charge of assault of one of the pupils. He has retained W. S. Potts, Lisbon, as his attorney, and will fight the charges. He claims to have been the victim of a "frame up."

ARTISTS TO GIVE MUSICAL CONCERT

Legion Post Will Present J. William Filson And Earl Truxell.

Charles H. Carey, post No. 56, American Legion, meeting Monday evening, planned a rare treat in the way of music for the people of Salem.

The Legion has been successful in arranging for a concert to be given early in May by J. William Filson, baritone, this city, and Earl Truxell, pianist, Pittsburgh.

These artists have played before audiences in this city on former occasions and won words or praise.

Mr. Filson has succeeded in obtaining Mr. Truxell to come here after much effort as he is at present engaged in making phonograph records. Mr. Truxell is the only Pittsburgh pianist making phonograph records. He composes a great many of his numbers and his reputation as a musician is further strengthened by the fact that he was band master for Gen. Pershing's band.

Five per cent of the receipts of this recital are to go to the national endowment fund of $100,000, which the national headquarters of the American Legion is seeking to raise which will provide sufficient income to decorate the grave of every American soldier abroad every year.

The committee in charge of the musicale includes H. H. Hickling, chairman, F. E. Griffin and M. J. Schuster. The committee has already secured a large list of guarantors to insure financing the production.

local subscribers make an average of 523 calls.

Taking the town around the telephone clock, from midnight until 6 a. m. calls are the lightest. The public is asleep then. Business generally is shut down. But the telephone exchange is open and the operators are on duty to handle your calls—whether they come or not.

At 6 o'clock business wakes up and goes to work. Calls begin to increase. They keep on gaining until between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m. when the "peak load"—the highest number of calls of the day—is reached. In this busiest 60 minutes Bell subscribers take 1,275 times, every day in the week.

From 10 o'clock until noon telephone calls hold steady. At 12, however, the public goes to lunch and calls decline.

Then about 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon, business "comes back" and telephone calls increase, but the afternoon "peak seldom reaches the high mark of the morning.

In the evening telephone calls are the heaviest, around 7 or 8 o'clock, when the public arranges its evening functions. From 8 until midnight the layman, reveal a characteristic of the calls gradually decline.

These figures, while surprising to human trait—everybody wanting the same thing at the same time or not wanting it.

Manager H. W. Huffman pointed out that the figures show that the telephone is a good barometer of business, for as business is at its zenith during the morning, so is telephone traffic. At night when business is at a standstill the telephone company has its fewest calls.

That the company keeps close check on the fluctuation and is always prepared to cope with it is seen in the number of operators it has on duty at different hours. The smallest number on duty is from 10 p. m. until 7 a. m. and the largest number between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m.

Salem's industrial situation was given another boost Tuesday with the announcement by T. J. Rosier, superintendent of the American Steel & Wire Co.'s plant here, of an increase of 11 per cent in the wage of unskilled day laborers, effective April 16.

This increase will effect 400 men and will bring the hourly rate for unskilled laborers from 36 to 40 cents. The increase affects laborers only, but wages of other employees will be equitably adjusted within the near future, it was announced.

Notices of the increase were posted at the plant Tuesday. The increase is general among subsidiary plants of the United States Steel corporation. Office employees will not be affected by the increase.

The plant here is operating at nearly maximum capacity. Present labor shortage and transportation conditions hold the capacity down, it was announced.

A shortage of common labor is said to have been mainly responsible for the wage increase. The corporation announced an increase of 20 per cent to all employees last September.

Mullins Need 500 Men

Salem's industrial situation is the brightest in years, plant officials say. It has been reported that nearly 1,000 more men will be needed for the city's industrial plants within a few weeks and almost that many could be given employment now if they could be found.

The Mullins Body corporation is now employing 1,350 men, the largest number in its history, and it needs about 500 more men at once, one official stated Tuesday. About 100 men are being brought from the Philadelphia and New York fields and company scouts are in several other cities trying to employ men to work in the Salem plant. The commissary opened by this company is now accommodating 300 men while about 230 beds are provided in the old boat works because of the shortage of houses in the city.

Orders for automobile parts and bodies are mounting every week and the expansion of this plant is becoming a problem because the city is not prepared to care for the great influx of employees.

The Deming Co., National Sanitary Co. and E. W. Bliss plants are working to capacity and orders at these and all other Salem plants are reported to be increasing monthly.

Salem Men Charge Donahey Changes Front On Angler's License

The action of Gov. Vic Donahey in vetoing the fisherman's license bill as passed by both branches of the state legislature, was condemned Monday night by members of the Salem branch of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association.

His veto of the bill was assailed because of the fact that he spoke favorably of the measure when on his campaign tour in Columbiana county, and then vetoed it when it had been passed by a large majority in the legislature.

A special meeting of the governing board of the county organization is being planned to be held at Lisbon, where measures will be adopted to investigate the reasons for vetoing the bill, and to learn the present prospects for an appropriation to complete the Guilford dam fish hatchery.

President Harry Beck appointed this committee to arrange the banquet which will be a feature of the annual field day of the fish and game association, July 18, at the Salem Country club, S. J. Wisner, Ray Hoobler and Orin Kearns.

This is expected to be one of the most successful of the annual meets staged by the association of sportsmen. An attractive program is being arranged for the day.

CARL UGLASS DIES SUDDENLY MONDAY

Carl G. Uglass, aged about 37, died suddenly at his home in Moline, Ill., Monday, according to word received here today.

Mr. Uglass was formerly a Salem resident and was for some time mechanical engineer at the plant of the Buckeye Engine company here. He was a native of Stockholm, Sweden, being a member of the royal family of that country.

Mr. Uglass was a member of all the Masonic bodies. He had recently worked in Detroit and had returned to Moline when death occurred. No details of the death were received here.

Funeral service will be conducted in Moline.

Fifteen men representing Lisbon and Salem, were present at the meeting and plans were made for a drive on East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine heads of financial institutions to induce them to come into the new body and form an Investors Service corporation for this county.

The object of the new body is to protect all investors. The discussion last night was confined to policies and objects and a recent financial venture in Salem was taken up and discussed thoroughly by the men present. Mr. Amstedt gave a resume of the practice of the scheme and its promoters and advised a careful investigation.

Killed By Train

Wells River, Vt., April 10.—Secretary of State Harry A. Black was killed here today when he stepped in front of a train.

Days have their peculiarities (the same as people) and there are times when the average calls are turned topsy-turvy. Manager H. M. Huffman said, "For instance, when a transportation line breaks down late in the afternoon, causing some unexpected street traffic congestion, there is frequently a sudden peak in telephone calls rivaling that of the morning, as people call their homes to explain why they are late to dinner."

A large fire, an accident or other unusual happening is always reflected in the telephone exchange as hundreds of inquiries are being made by telephone. This is further evidence of the telephone serving as a barometer of the public pulse.

Wells River, Vt., April 10.—Owing to the continued illness of Harry F. Morse, the trial of Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder, his three sons and others indicted on charges of alleged conspiracy to defraud the government, was again postponed today.

CASHIER ADMITS DEALS AMOUNTED TO 28 MILLIONS

With Shortage Of Million Dollars, Banker Hopes To Return Losses.

Cincinnati, April 10.—A. H. Penfield, defaulting cashier of the Springfield National bank, whose shortage approximates $1,000,000, was to be arraigned in United States district court here today.

The defaulting cashier was brought to Cincinnati last night from the Montgomery county jail at Dayton. The demeanor jauntiness and bland serenity of his first few days in a cell were lacking. A prison pallor was marked. But a change of scenery evened him, he talked freely, even voluntarily about his dealings in the market.

"If I remember correctly, my deals totaled $28,000,000," he said. "How much I might have made if the stocks had gone as I figured is a big question. Anyway, I didn't make it, instead I lost something more than $900,000."

"I never have seen a copy of the indictment, but I suppose it covers my defaultations in full and I've been told that it places my shortages between 1922 and 1923 at $204,000. I began my dealings in 1919 and lost steadily."

Wife Waits For Him

"If the federal grand jury charges that I lost $977,233.50, as I am told, I'll have to accept that figure as correct."

"It is too early for me to make any plans for the future, but I hope that when I am free again I can pay back at least part of the losses due to my deals."

"I am married; have been for 15 years. My wife assured me, when bidding me good bye, that she would be loyal to me throughout my long incarceration, and that will be something to look forward to. It would be too much to ask her to move to Atlanta, but I'm confident I'll find her waiting for me when I am free, and that she'll be ready to help me in my efforts to repay my losses."

"I don't believe I'll ever be able to make good all that I took—you see, I am 48 years old now. But I hope that eventually those who have suffered will receive their money."

Lord Robert Cecil

LORD ROBERT CECIL has arrived in this country. He comes with a "mission." As the foremost British exponent of the League of Nations, he is here to attempt to convince us that the league is the one essential and complete organization through whose functioning the cause of peace may be advanced throughout the world.

Lord Robert has set for himself a considerable task. The views he holds with reference to the league met the repudiation of more than seven million voters in the last presidential election. There is no reason to believe that this sentiment has changed.

The distinguished British statesman will be courteously welcomed and entertained. That is his due, for Robert Cecil is one among the foremost diplomats of the world.

But America does not desire to go into the League of Nations—at least not as it now is formulated, nor at any time when such association might even remotely involve the nation in the complex troubles of Europe.

Lord Robert would have America in the league, also Germany and Russia as legitimate members of the organization. He will attempt to popularize his views and to promote his object with such resourcefulness as he may be able to command.

The league has not vindicated its right to exist. The league has made a poor showing. To mention it in connection with world peace compels the thought of Assyria, of Mesopotamia, or Armenia, of Poland, of Turkey and Greece, of the present situation in the Ruhr, of treaties ignored and the rights of peoples outraged of massacres and exploitations. The United States would have none of these things.

A group of surveyors who are locating a route for a new pipe line from the Homeworth fields, caused some excitement Monday when farmers noticed them at work. SMALLEST WHEAT CROP SINCE 1918 IS U. S. FORECAST

Washington, April 10.—This year's winter wheat crop was forecast today by the department of agriculture at 572,217,000 bushels, the smallest crop since 1918, and 17,537,000 bushels less than the average production for the last ten years.

The forecast was based on conditions prevailing April 1 and upon the assumption of average abandonment of acreage through the winter and average influence from now until harvest.

No estimate was made of the abandoned acreage, which will be indicated in the May crop report, but in summarizing conditions as they existed April 1, the department said abandonment promises to be heavy, although irregular, from Ohio westward to Kansas and Nebraska.

"Owing to the extensive drought or scanty rainfall last fall and winter in many sections," the department said, "much wheat failed to germinate or bare germinating, perished from the rigors of winter. In the plains area existing from western Nebraska through western Kansas into the Pan Handle region of Oklahoma and Texas, conditions are extremely poor, ranging from 50 per cent downward to complete failure. These conditions extend with lessening severity over the adjacent area, including the southwestern part of Nebraska, the western half of Kansas, practically all of Texas Pan Handle, eastern New Mexico, western Colorado and southwest Ohio Wyoming, in all of which territory the condition is below 65 per cent."

This year's rye production was forecast at 75,784,000 bushels, which is almost 20,000,000 less than last year's.

KIDNEY TROUBLE?

The Kidneys are the Blood Filters—When they Weaken and Stop Up—the System Becomes Overloaded with Uric Acid.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"For about four years I suffered with my kidneys being out of order. I had severe pains thru my back just across the kidneys and I would become so dizzy at times I would have to lie down until it passed off. I also had inflammation of the bladder and suffered from a burning and smarting. The excretion had a thick sediment and a very offensive odor. I suffered constantly. I tried many kidney medicines without relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets. They gave me the first relief in four years. Since taking them I have not experienced any more trouble. The backache left me and my kidneys are active and normal. I have no more bladder trouble. The urine has cleared up and I am feeling just fine. I can do my work with ease and comfort, in fact, I feel like a new man. I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets to all who suffer with kidney ailments."—Wm. Johns, 254 Broad St.

An aged man giving his name as Andrew Votaw, claiming to be an inmate at the county infirmary of Wood county, was picked up in the vicinity of Rogers Sunday afternoon.

He had started a fire to warm himself and the fire had spread into the woods near that village. When volunteer fire fighters turned out to fight the blaze they found Votaw.

Millions of Families

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford Cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford. And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

Pretty Mathilde Prepares To Wed Her Swiss Suitor

London, April 10.—Pretty 18-year-old Mathilde McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, who spent the winter in Paris and London preparing for her trousseau, is returning to Switzerland to be married to her middle-aged Swiss suitor, Major Max Oser, a former instructor in horse riding. It was learned here today, Miss McCormick became of age yesterday under the American law, which is 18.

"Miss McCormick left London immediately after she became of age and is now on her way to Basle, Switzerland, where Major Oser is living," said Miss Julia Mangold, traveling companion of Mathilde. "They will be married in two or three weeks. They are merely awaiting the arrival of Miss McCormick's father who will give her away at the nuptial ceremony."

"Miss Mathilde spent the winter in Paris and London getting her trousseau ready. It is now complete and the only thing delaying the marriage is the absence of her father."

Harold F. McCormick, father of Mathilde, a multi-millionaire Chicago manufacturer, and husband of Ganna Walska, the beautiful Polish opera singer, is at present in Chicago.

Miss McCormick, accompanied by Miss Mangold, who is related to Oser, came to London the first of the year and rented a pretty, cozy flat in the Kensington section. They lived so quietly that news of their residence in London failed to leak out. At times they made flying trips to Paris to shop in the fashionable dressmaking establishments.

Throngs Gather As Krupps Bury Dead Workmen

Essen, April 10.—With church bells throughout Germany tolling and with at least 100,000 men, women and children in the funeral cortege, Krupps today buried their dead workmen who were killed by French soldiers on March 21.
Owing to the absence of police power the handling of such an immense throng was almost a superhuman problem. It was the third time in German history that an event of such magnitude had been carried out without police supervision.
The cortege included 55,000 Krupp workers. Tens of thousands of employees of other factories and mines throughout the Ruhr flocked into Essen.
All the streets in the vicinity of city hall were crisscrossed with people. Almost every building bore a flag, either half-masted or else tied with crepe to denote mourning. These flags were of all types and colors.
The national flag of the German republic predominated. At a few windows, particularly at the homes of nationalists, the old black, white and red flag of the empire could be observed.
There were no French soldiers abroad. General Inghelbrecht, in order to avert possible clashes, ordered all the French troops held in their barracks.

DONAHEY TO HALT STATE ROAD WORK

Columbus, April 10.—Despite the refusal of State Highway Director Herrick to accede to Gov. Donahey's demand for his resignation, the governor's program of "more miles for less money" will not be stopped.

An economic survey of the entire 16,635 miles of state highway system, and the appointment of an advisory board to consult with the state highway director are included in the plans announced by the governor.

Would You Save $2.50?

Just say the word and we will send out a representative with a Hoover to thoroughly clean one of your rugs.

But best of all, there is not the slightest obligation attached to our offer. You pay us nothing and incur no obligation to purchase. We make this offer solely to show you the wonderful cleaning ability of The Hoover.

The Hoover is moderately priced and is backed by the guarantee of the world's largest makers of electric cleaners. It is made to last a lifetime. But, even more important, The Hoover combines the three essentials of thorough cleaning—beating, sweeping and air suction.

Sold for only $6.25 and small monthly payments.

One Shall Be Left

By ANTHONY REIMERT

(© 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SERGEANT RICHARDS sat beside Paul La Farge inside the snow hut. It was a hastily made structure, and had been made under emergency, when the first sweep of the blizzard struck the plains. Both men were experienced plainsmen, and knew what its oncoming portended. For three days the storm would sweep with unremitting fury.

Richards had been sent to get La Farge for murder. The trapper had shot down another in hot blood—but he would probably swing for all that. It was Richards' last patrol, for he was to leave the force the following spring and marry Marie Dupont, a little girl of the wilderness whom he had met on his last journey northward.

Marie had promised to wait for him, and his journey in search of La Farge would take him quite close to her place.

Richards found La Farge in the Barrens. He had put up a trapper's shack, four hundred miles from the place where he had killed his enemy. With him was Marie. They had been married two months before.

It was a pitiful story that was unfolded as captor and captive sat together, Richards with his automatic prepared for any possible attack, and La Farge handcuffed.

La Farge had long wooed Marie, unknown to Richards. There had been a third man, too. Marie had engaged herself to each of the three, thinking it mere coquetry. But in the North you cannot play with men like that. In the end La Farge had killed Williams, and Marie had agreed to marry him and flee with him.

They had been married before the discovery of the dead man's body. They had fled together. Marie loved La Farge. She sobbed at Richards' feet for his release. Of course that was impossible.

Yet, hot with anger though he was, Sergeant Richards realized that all three were in a way victims of circumstances. When he took La Farge away, both men forbade Marie to follow. La Farge said cheerfully that he would be back a free man, by spring. But all three understood.

It was impossible for Marie to accompany them, for Richards' dogs had died on the trail, and they could barely carry enough food for two over the four hundred-mile journey. Marie would have to wait till spring in the lonely place. The two men started, carrying just enough food to suffice them on half rations.

On the third day La Farge broke through the rotten ice of a muskrat and plunged to the shoulders in the treacherous swamp. Richards pulled him out in the nick of time, but his food supply was sucked into the fathomless, muddy depths beneath him.

After that it was a race of desperation against time. Richards had his rifle, but there were no signs of game anywhere, even the foxes had deserted the waste of country that they were traversing. Handcuffed and bound at night, free by day, La Farge stumbled southward, with Richards at his side, both men gaunt specters, with hollow cheeks overgrown with scrubby beard. Only two men accustomed to the wilderness could hope to make it. And what a hope! The gallows at the other end for La Farge; for Richards the eternal memory of his lost love in the lonely cabin northward.

Then came the blizzard. Richards made a rude hut of snow, and for three days they listened to the howling wind without. To step five yards from the hut into that storm meant the probability of never finding it again. It was the elemental fury of the North let loose against them.

Richards sat beside La Farge. "Listen, old man," he said, "if anything should happen to either of us there would be food enough to take the other safe to his destination. I'm thinking we can't make headquarters now."

"Agreed. It doesn't much matter, does it?" asked La Farge with a hollow laugh.

Richards was thinking of Marie. And he was wondering what a policeman's duty was under the circumstances. He didn't care very much. Weak and emaciated, and tortured by his mental sufferings, he felt that he could meet any fate that befell him with indifference.

"I guess it ought to clear up soon," said Richards. "Then we'll have to be getting along."

La Farge agreed indifferently. There was a few moments' silence.

"I guess you and she were pretty happy?" asked the Sergeant.

"I guess so," the other answered.

"I'll just go out and see if the storm's lifting, old man," said Richards. "Might as well take your handcuffs off—what?"

He unlocked them and stepped out into the storm, which instantly swallowed him. No need to take those dozen steps from the hut; they might have been a thousand miles.

It was strange how warm and comfortable one felt lying in the snow.

New Group of Sun Spots.

During a heavy fog persons in western Pennsylvania saw in the center of the sun a small round black dot. Astronomers of the Allegheny observatory said it was a new group of sun spots, made visible to the naked eye because of the dense fog which acted much like a smoked glass. The sun appeared like a great copper disc with the spot plainly visible.

POLICE APPEAL BILL IS VETOED

Governor Is Opposed To Broadening Power Of Present Law.

Columbus, April 9.—Gov. Donahey today vetoed the Ramey bill, which would have permitted any officer or member of a police or fire department to appeal from the finding a civil service commission to common pleas court of the county in which the municipality is located.

The law now permits such an appeal by the chief of a fire or police department, but the governor stated that he is not in sympathy with a further broadening of the statutes.

The governor also announced today that he will be unable to receive callers at his office for the next 15 days, because he wishes to devote most of his time to the study of bills passed by the legislature, which are before him either for approval or veto.

PRESIDENT CALLS CABINET MEETING

Washington, April 10.—President Harding swung back into the governmental harness today with his first cabinet meeting in nearly seven weeks.

It was a depleted cabinet that met with the chief executive at the White House at 11 a. m. because many of Mr. Harding's advisers are away from the capital on speaking trips, inspection trips and undergoing convalescence.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover has gone to Des Moines, where tomorrow night he will fire the opening gun in the administration's campaign to build up public support for the international court proposal advanced by Harding and Hughes in the closing days of the last congress.

COUNCIL CHECKS CAR RESUMPTION AT E. LIVERPOOL

East Liverpool, April 10. — East Liverpool's street car problem is again "up in the air."

As a result of developments last night, it is improbable that street cars will operate here before 30 days or longer—at all.

Prospect for immediate resumption of street car traffic here after a suspension of service for almost a year, which appeared so bright Sunday night Monday following the signing of a working agreement by officials of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company and officials of Division 52 of the carmen's union, were considerably dimmed by the developments of last night, which included the failure of city council to pass an emergency measure, a proposed ordinance permitting the street car company to increase its fares, and, emphatic announcement by C. A. Smith, general manager of the traction company that the ordinance substituted by council for the one proposed would not be acceptable to traction company officials.

Summarized the developments last night were:

Council was asked to pass a fare increase ordinance similar to the one passed several months ago and voted down at the special election in February, except that it provided for abandonment of the Pleasant Heights line, substituting motor busses therefor, and relieving the traction company from doing any new paving before October, 1929.

Council refused to consider the proposed ordinance and substituted the ordinance which previously had been passed and later voted down, and passed this ordinance upon first reading but failed to pass it as an emergency measure because of the objection of Councilmen Goppert and Wilkinson.

EXAMINE CHILDREN IN PENSION CASES

Judge Requests Mothers To Submit Children For Examination.

Judge Lodge Riddle is sending letters to all mothers in this county who are receiving mothers' pensions, in which he asks that their children be submitted to a physical and mental examination by the county health department so that all cases in which help is needed to keep the children in proper physical condition and minor operations are needed, can be cared for.

Mothers are being notified when and where to present their children for such examinations. In addition the court asks that the school records of these children be submitted. A blank card is enclosed with questions to be answered by the mother and teacher of the child.

This is in accordance with the recent conference of probate judges at Columbus and will assist the mother in every way to keep the child in school and note the progress. The mothers' pension is designed to help mothers keep their children in school.

CITY WELL WATER SUPPLY LIMITED DECLARES DITTOE

now to what is practical. The question is largely one of finances.

"Rainfall is the original source of all water supply. This makes for us the surface as well as the well supply. It may be contaminated and made impure through its passage through the earth. It may come in contact with sewage. The well supply is often made impure this way.

Cost Must Be Waived

"It behooves both the city and the men who live in it to watch that they will not be deprived of a safe water supply. The cost must be waived in comparison with the benefit derived. Filtration and disinfecting of water make it safe to use always. Of 311 installations in this state, serving 357 cities, towns and villages, 206 represent the water used as found, mostly well water, for a population of 605,000. Some form of improvements are in force in 105 cities, towns and villages serving a population of 3,250,000. Filtration, and softening processes are used by 71, and 27 use chlorine just as is used in Salem.

"The results are shown by the reduction of typhoid fever cases in the state. Ten years ago there was 23 per 100,000 population in deaths from the same cause. Even with the typhoid fever epidemic in Salem, the rate that year was lower than any previous year for 27 years.

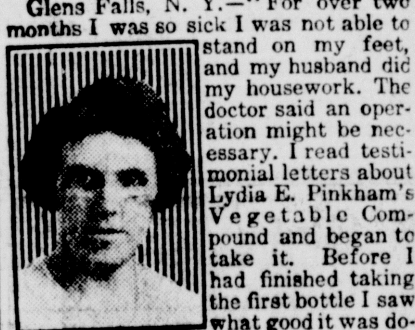

"The cities of the state have it within their power to reduce typhoid fever to a minimum. A great amount of typhoid fever comes from the country. Sanitation means something to the country people.

Plant Inadequate

Salem's water supply is deficient in certain respects. The water supply is inadequate. That is its most glaring fault. The waterworks is not large enough for Salem. Therefore it

I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. EVERY PRESIDENT HAS ANIMAL PET

HARDING'S LADDIE BOY NEEDS
NO INTRODUCTION TO THE AMERICAN PUBLIC.

WILSON OWNED A BLACK CAT

Correspondent Tells How He Surreptitiously Introduced Her Into the White House to Keep Her From Destroying the Birds.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The oldest employees of the White House, men who have served through many administrations in one capacity or another, say that every President within their recollection has had an animal pet of some kind. Presidents, like other people, seem to have an entire human and humane interest in animals.

The country may be tired of hearing about Laddie Boy, the dog by which President Harding lays so much store, a dog which is well tended and cared for, when the President's ministrations are not to be had, by a colored man, Wilson Jackson, whom the correspondents jocosely have dubbed the "master of the hounds." Laddie Boy's lot is cast in pleasant places, as was the lot of animals that were adopted in the families, or so to speak, onto lawns of other Presidents.

The Wilson administration had no kennel, but it had most comfortable quarters for a black cat, a cat of which President Wilson was as fond apparently as he is of the number thirteen, usually accounted, with black cats, as being unlucky. There is a story about this black cat which belonged to President Wilson, the truth of which can be affirmed by the present writer for he was responsible for the introduction of the animal into the White House, and indirectly responsible for Mr. Wilson's quick adoption of the ebony visitor.

How Wilson Got the Black Cat.

Possibly the story of the black cat that the President adopted may not be uninteresting. One morning some years ago there appeared in the Washington Post this item of news:

"When President Wilson went to breakfast yesterday something soft startled him by brushing against his leg. He looked down and saw a black cat. At first the attendant started to eject the intruder but the President interceded and the cat stayed with him throughout the meal and got a big saucer of cream.

"All day the cat lay on the sofa in the President's study and purred. Nobody knows from whence she came. She can stay at the White House if she likes."

There was one man who upon reading this knew "from whence the cat came." At noon on the day before the President found the cat in his breakfast room and gave it a saucer of cream as a prelude to its adoption, the writer of this happened to be walking through the White House grounds when a half-grown, jet black cat came to him and mewed for sympathy or something to eat, very likely both.

Now the writer who was appealed to is not particularly fond of cats. He has nothing against the cat as a cat, but being interested in wild bird life he knows no deep affection for either Tom or Tabby.

It was feared on the part of the man who had met the cat, that being hungry it might try to catch some of the songsters in the White House grounds. Feeling that something ought to be done to relieve the immediate hunger of the animal the writer picked up the cat, stowed it under his arm and sneaked down into the basement entrance under the White House. He walked through the lower corridor and shoved the cat upstairs, trusting that somebody would find it and give it something to eat, and that the birds on the lawn would be saved. Descendants of the black cat are said to be in the Wilson household on S street today.

Taft's Pet Cow.

President Taft did not care for small pets. He likes things, as someone has said, that are built in a way on the same physical proportions that he is built on. He loved a horse and he had one, but he also had a cow and the cow was known as the "White House pet." The cow was presented to President Taft by a Wisconsin admirer. It grazed in an exclusive field, for it was given pasture in the great grounds back of the White House where, despite the shade of many trees, succulent grass manages to grow.

It isn't necessary, perhaps, to speak about the pets of the Roosevelt family when it occupied the White House. The colonel had horses and dogs, and his children had pretty nearly everything in the animal line. Horses and goats, dogs and cats, snakes, turtles and white mice went to make up a part of the White House menagerie in the Roosevelt days.

Doorkeeper Another Horatius.

A senator paused before a door attended by a staid old doorkeeper. "George," said the statesman, "you must have been here a long time. I have been here for twenty years myself, and you were a fixture when I first came to the senate."

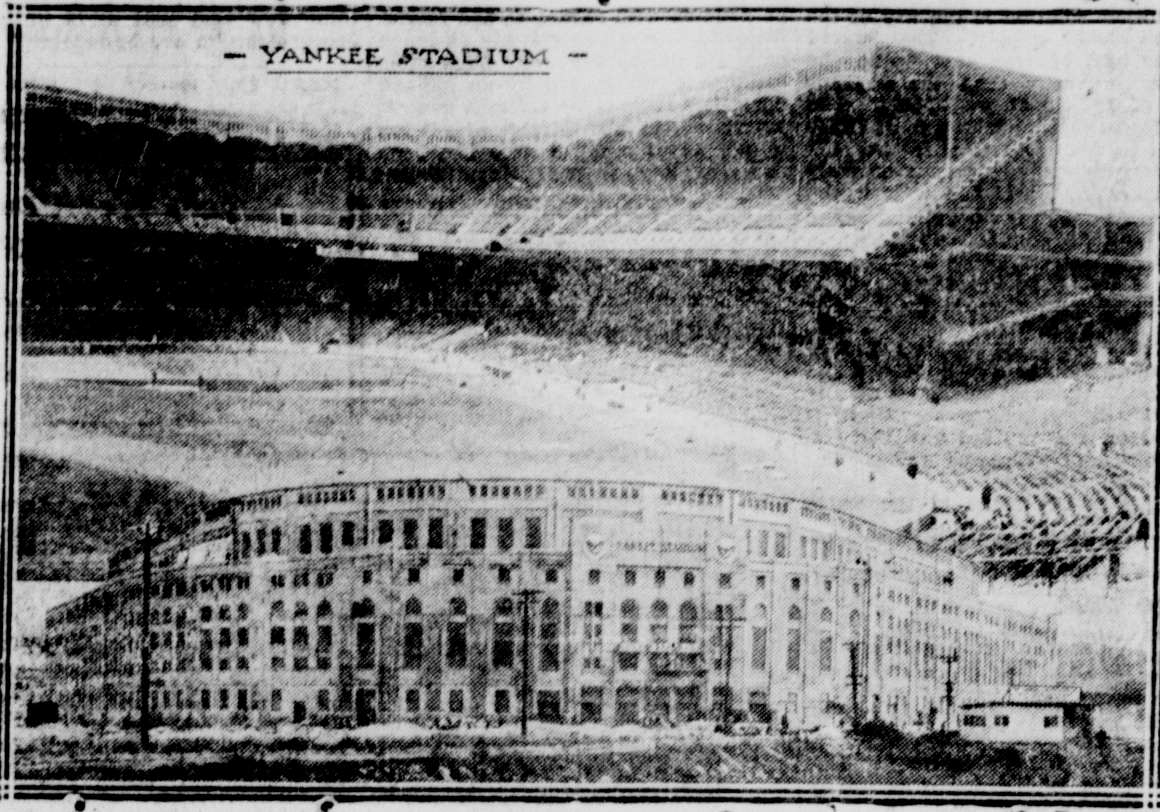

"Thank you, senator, I have kept this door for thirty-three years."

"A remarkable record," declared the senator. "George, you have kept that door as well as Horatius kept the bridge."

Yankees To Play In Greatest Stadium

—YANKEE STADIUM—

Here is an inside and an outside view of the new Yankee stadium, in New York city, where the American League clubs will play this year. It has just been completed. This stadium, which will easily seat 75,000 people, is called an engineering accomplishment of the "first water."

Summons Boxers To Complete Training

New York, April 10.—William Muldoon, chairman of the New York State athletic club, has sent out a blanket order to the four headliners of the milk fund boxing bouts May 12, to be on the ground here not later than Thursday to complete their training. It was reported today. The men so notified were Jess Willard and Floyd Johnson, who will meet in the feature bout and Luis Firpo and Jack McAuliffe, who will appear in the semi-final.

Muldoon has also ordered that none of the men may take part in any bout in the meantime and this is regarded as automatically barring Johnson from meeting Fred Fulton in Jersey City next week.

Carpentier Matched For European Bouts

"Georges also will fight Beckett in London on June 14," Francois Des camps, his manager, said. "But unless our plans are changed he will not go to America this year because we are negotiating for several matches in Europe this fall."

The Bhandardara irrigation dam, near Nasig, India, which will soon be completed, will be 270 feet high, storing the greatest depth of water of any dam in the world.

CASE OF REAL FRIENDSHIP

Old Maid's Philosophy Might Be Disputed, but She Was Undoubtedly a True "Chum."

The young principal of a Hoosier school had to borrow some money in a hurry or some of his debtors would notify the school board of his indebtedness to them. He went to a bank and was told it would be all right if one of the teachers of his building would go his security. He went to the oldest and most faithful one in the building.

While they were talking, the principal's young wife, resident in fine raiment, with her best friend, the mayor's wife, came through the room on her way to her husband's office. She gave the teacher a condescending nod and told her husband she wished to see him in his office. With an apology on his lips the young fellow followed the snobby wife.

For a minute the little old maid hesitated, then she signed the note, and started one of the pupils toward his office before another snubbing from his wife would make the work of indorsing that note harder. "After all, a friend should be more loyal than even a wife," she argued to herself.

Distinctive Bedroom Furniture

WHY NOT HAVE AN ATTRACTIVE BEDROOM?

The cheerless and depressive bedroom is doomed! It is being supplanted by a room that is restful, well ventilated and lighted—cheerful to the fullest degree. Ungainly and unsightly furniture which was more torturous than restful is being replaced with beautifully designed pieces—all richly finished—some handsomely decorated—some hand carved—all exceptionally attractive. The long neglected bedroom is now coming into its own—a room of restlessness and comfort.

Dress up the bedroom this housecleaning time. We would be very glad to have you inspect our display of bedroom furniture.

BANK FAILURESDecrease In Bank Deposit
Loss Drops Fifty Per Cent In Five Years.

Columbus, April 10.—Bank failures in Ohio have decreased more than 50 per cent during the last five years, according to a statistical report issued by the state banking department this week.

The margin of risk to the depositor, the report states, has been diminished to 1-833 of one per cent for the five year period. Of the $6,977,205, 110 deposited in state banks only $33,547 was lost to depositors. The incredible decrease in risk is attributed by banking authorities to stringent banking laws of Ohio and their strict enforcement by state bank examiners. The liquidation department of the Ohio Banks Commission has been responsible for the recovery of the resources of closed banks.

The loss to Ohio people states the bankers' report, compares most favorably with the amount of money lost in Ohio over a similar period of time through other businesses. The losses in insecure investments to Ohio investors totals more than $102,000,000 while the banks losses reached only 7-10 of one percent of that sum. The report was prepared by the banking department for the Ohio Bankers Association to demonstrate the protection afforded the depositor through the Ohio statutes regulating the operation of banks.

No need to say, "I wish I dared"

How often have you heard the expression, "I can't drink coffee; it doesn't agree with me!" Yet there is an undeniable satisfaction in having a hot drink with meals.

Postum supplies satisfaction and safety, both. No need to deny yourself the pleasure of this fragrant, invigorating cup through fear of nervous disturbance afterward. Postum is rich and comforting, and there's nothing in it that can harm anybody.

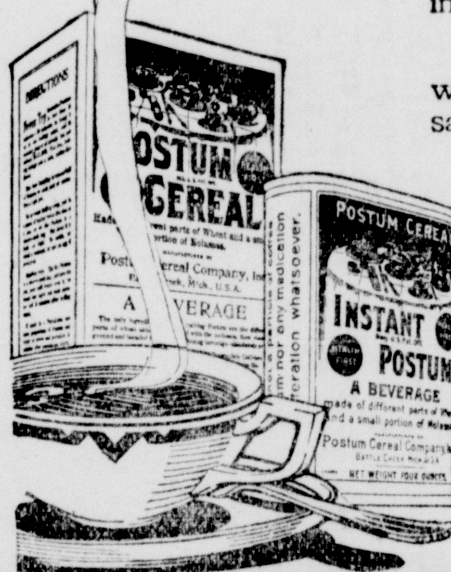

Why not follow the example of the thousands who have left off the risks of coffee, for the assured satisfaction and safety of Postum?

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.
